Get to know her!

Dulmy Norely lives with her mother and one sister. Her mother struggles to provide for the family. Her mother is unemployed. Despite their efforts, it is difficult to meet the family's needs.

Dulmy Norely is living in a poor village in the Latin American country of Honduras. Homes are made of sun-dried bricks with tile roofs and dirt floors. Beans and rice are staples of their diet, but sometimes families can get corn, eggs and locally grown fruit or vegetables. In forested regions the climate is hot and humid in the summer and cold in the winter. Weather in the south is warm and dry all year.

Dulmy Norely is not in school at this time because the child is still too young. She helps at home by being good. She likes to play with dolls. She is in satisfactory health.

Your sponsorship commitment will help provide Dulmy Norely and her community with access to clean water to prevent diseases, as well as improved school curricula, teacher training, and tutoring for children. Your faithful support will also provide families with education in proper nutrition, and will establish new gardens, fish ponds, and beehives to provide healthy food choices. And through our partnership with local churches, children will learn about the surpassing love of Jesus Christ.

Nazareth

Get to know him!

Nazareth lives with his parents and two sisters. His parents struggle to provide for the family.

Nazareth is growing up in a humid, mountainous region of northeastern Guatemala that's been affected by prolonged drought in recent years. It's one of the poorest areas in Guatemala, with more than eight in 10 people living in poverty. Families rely on agriculture for food and income, but soil erosion and poor land management make it difficult for them to grow enough to provide for their families. Children and families don't have access to clean water, which contributes to poor health, and many kids are malnourished. Because of widespread poverty, children often must work to help make ends meet instead of attending school, and schools are under-resourced for students' needs. The majority of people who live here are Indigenous people groups, but historic discrimination toward them means they're widely excluded from resources that could empower them to lift themselves out of poverty.

Nazareth is not in school at this time because the child is still too young. He helps at home by being good. He likes to play with dolls. He is in satisfactory health.

Your sponsorship commitment will help Nazareth and his community get better access to resources and support that will empower them to break the cycle of poverty. Rural families will get access to lasting clean water, to help prevent illness. Families will get trainings in business skills and economic development, increasing their ability to provide for their basic needs. We'll help equip the community to provide consistent access to quality education and healthcare for kids. Through it all, staff will show God's love as we care for the most vulnerable children and families.

Reinaldo Alexander is growing up in an agricultural community in a tropical, mountainous region of El Salvador. In this community, disciplining with violence is culturally acceptable within families, and children are vulnerable to exploitation and neglect. When families struggle with poverty, kids sometimes have to leave school to work. Getting access to healthcare and education proves challenging due to cost and distance, and some rural families lack basic services like running water and electricity. Without regular healthcare and nutritious diets, kids suffer from malnutrition. Your sponsorship will help empower children and families, especially the most vulnerable, to create better futures.

He helps at home by sweeping the floors. He likes to play ball games. He is in satisfactory health.

Your sponsorship commitment will help Reinaldo Alexander and his community get better access to resources and support that will empower them to break the cycle of poverty. Communities will be equipped to prepare and plan for natural disasters like earthquakes. Parents will gain better knowledge about nutrition and healthcare for their young kids, helping fight malnutrition. Clean water and sanitation facilities will be more accessible in homes, schools, and churches, and vulnerable families will be supported through trainings and community measures that uphold kids' rights. Through it all, staff will show God's love as we care for the most vulnerable children and families.

Diana Wanami lives with her parents and has no brothers or sisters. Her parents struggle to provide for the family. Her father is unemployed and her mother is unemployed. Despite their efforts, it is difficult to meet the family's needs.

Diana Wanami is growing up in a poor area in Kenya. The HIV and AIDS crisis has severely damaged the social fabric of the entire community, leaving many children without parents. Many families live in mud and brick homes with tin or thatched roofs. A typical diet consists of maize, cereal grains, beans, and local fruits and vegetables. The landscape is rugged and open, with scattered trees.

Diana Wanami is in pre-school and her favorite subject is drawing. She helps at home by being good. She likes to play. She is in satisfactory health.

Your sponsorship commitment will help provide Diana Wanami and her community with better health through safe water sources, as well as books and school uniforms. Farmers will be able to support their families through improved agricultural methods and livestock management, and community members will be trained in nutrition, hygiene, and disease prevention. And through our caring staff and partnership with local churches, Christ's love will be reflected to these children.
